Using Echo360 Personal Capture, we were able to create customized instructional videos on the topic of information literacy. We then embedded them in a LibGuide accessible on the library’s website for ease of use. The purpose of this series is to show students how to search for and find high quality resources for their papers, projects, and assignments. We used the library catalog to look for books, the library databases to search for journal articles, and Google to search for websites. Each video is under four minutes long and is intended for an introductory audience. The LibGuide can easily be added to any Blackboard class.
