Research Assistant Information

Research Assistants in the College of Business will work closely with faculty conducting scholarly research required for professional development, tenure review, publication, accreditation, or any research conducted for academic purposes.

Research Assistants will be chosen based on major and interest /experience with topic. While some faculty conduct research during the academic year, most require an assistant in the summer. It is not necessary for Research Assistants to be on campus during this time, as much of the work can be done on a computer, and communication can take place over the phone and through e-mail. However, all Summer Research Assistants must meet with their respective faculty members at least twice before the end of the semester.

Research Assistants are paid a stipend of $500 for their work, which will not exceed 55 hours.

Please state why you are interested in applying to become a research assistant.

Would you be willing to co-present your research with faculty both on campus and/or at a professional conference?

Research Assistants will be notified when their applications have been approved, and will be assigned to faculty members as needed.
